

I am writing to comment on the absolute invaluable commodity having the K-LOVE radio station in our area of Northern Mississippi. I listen to no other radio stations in this area because K-LOVE is the only one that I don't have to worry about offensive conversation and even offensive songs that are so commonly found on the other stations today, plus I love the music and dj's on the program. I am also surrounded by people that listen to KLOVE for these same reasons. If the KLOVE station were not available, our community would be stripped of its one good source of Christian programming that also is encouraging and popular! I travel throughout the country over 30 weekends per year, and in every city in which I arrive, the first thing I search for is if they pick up K-LOVE on a frequency in that area. I pray that this initiative to allow LPFM stations to take priority over current FM services will NOT be passed through. When you're talking about our society, everything is about money, but not KLOVE. Stations like this are about keeping alive some purity and integrity in providing a service for our families. If the readers of this letter doubt this or don't care, gather your wife or husband and kids and for a grand old family time listening to trashy cursing on some of the "morning shows" on other radio stations; then try out KLOVE for a while. I realize that this is probably about more than one radio station. The non-profit status of KLOVE, being totally listener supported, speaks for itself about how the people of this world need KLOVE. If it's still on the air (and it IS growing nationally), then it IS providing an INVALUABLE service. And the best way to know is that the LISTENERS are making it happen because it's IMPORTANT to them.
